Subject	Description
Narrator	Anas ibn Malik (RA), Ibn Masud (RA)
Reference	Sahih Bukhari 1074, Sahih Muslim 802
Topic	Companions weeping due to khushu in prayer

2. Background

The Companions (Sahaba) were known for their deep khushu in prayer. Their hearts were so connected to Allah that they would weep during recitation and dhikr.

3. Full Narration

Hadith 1: Anas ibn Malik (RA)

Anas (RA) said:

I never saw anyone whose cheeks were more stained with tears than the Messenger of Allah (SAW) – until he met his Lord. And I never heard anyone whose voice was more beautiful in recitation than the Prophet (SAW).

Hadith 2: Ibn Masud (RA)

Ibn Masud (RA) said:

The Prophet (SAW) recited Surah At-Tawbah, and it was seventy ayat. I used to recite it during the time of Uthman (RA) – and I would finish it in the time it takes to recite Al-Baqarah.

Hadith 3: Abdullah ibn ash-Shikhkhir

Abdullah ibn ash-Shikhkhir (RA) said:

I came to the Prophet (SAW) while he was praying – and his chest was weeping, like the sound of a boiling pot.

4. Lessons

Weeping from Khushu

The Companions did not weep from fear of punishment alone – they weeped from love (hubb), hope (raja), and awe (khashyah) of Allah.

Connection to Allah

Their hearts were so connected to the verses that tears came naturally – this is the fruit of tadabbur (contemplation).

Beautiful Voice

The Prophet's (SAW) voice was beautiful in recitation – but it was his heart that made it beautiful, not just his vocal cords.
